

SPEAKING ENGAGEMENTS

Exceptional healthcare is achievable. It starts with a willingness to experience change and an intention for learning. It starts with being equipped and inspired with solutions that are getting measurable results. The Capstone Leadership speakers deliver real life messages that are applicable to the challenges that those working in healthcare face each and every day.

Whether you need a keynote address, workshop, or breakout session at your next conference or an on-site training event, Capstone speakers deliver inspiring and engaging messages customized for each audience, from those in the board room to those on the front lines of healthcare.

Our speakers are experienced and prepared with training from various public speaking organizations, including American Speaker's Training, Duarte, and Dale Carnegie. With every message, we ensure your audience will walk away with actionable solutions – simple enough to implement the very next day.

We've had the pleasure of working with Capstone Leadership Solutions since 2014. They have a remarkable ability to make the session content come alive; they are engaging and really hit home the topics that are at the forefront for nurse leaders today. I always expect a full session room when their name appears in our program. - Jess Tyler, Access Intelligence
